FROM THE PRINCIPAL'S DESK

A NOTE FROM THE HEART

Dear Parents & Learning Leaders,

As the academic year begins to fold its pages and we pause to look back, one thought rises above all others—how deeply meaningful the parent, teacher, school partnership truly is. Schools shape learning, but communities shape lives. And it is in the space where home and school meet that children truly flourish.

Over the years, we have walked alongside each other—through routines and reflections, assessments and achievements, questions and quiet reassurances. Perhaps now, it feels like the right time to take a small but joyful leap together. Not to do something for our children, but to create something with one another—something they will remember long after the lights go off and the curtains close.

As we approach the end of the academic session in March, we are dreaming of a special end-of-year mega production for our children—with a twist. This time, the stage will belong not to the students, but to their parents and teachers.

Imagine parents and teachers dancing together, acting in a play, singing their hearts out—sometimes perfectly, sometimes imperfectly, but always wholeheartedly. Imagine children watching from the audience, wide-eyed and delighted, seeing the adults in their lives take risks, laugh at themselves, and create joy simply for them.

Somewhere after school years end, many of us quietly pack away these parts of ourselves. Life becomes responsible, scheduled, and serious. This initiative is our invitation to unpack a little joy again—to bond over rehearsals, cups of tea, shared laughter, and creative chaos.

Of course, such magic needs commitment. Rehearsals may happen after school hours or on weekends, and auditions will be conducted to ensure we present our very best to our children. An interest form is attached for your reference:

As we close this year, we want to thank you—for trusting us, walking with us, and believing in the power of partnership. And as we look ahead, we wish you a year filled with health, hope, lighter days, and many moments of joy with your children.

WARM REGARDS

P.S. If your heart smiled even a little while reading this, that’s your cue. Watch out for the form, talk to your family, and consider stepping onto the stage with us. After all, how often does life offer us a chance to perform—for an audience that matters this much?
